Optional Program Installation Descriptions

A Blog (short for web log) is a web-based publication consisting primarily of periodic articles (normally in reverse chronological order). Blogs often focus on a particular subject. Many people use blogs as an online personal diary. Many businesses use blogs to keep their customers informed of the latest happenings of the company. A typical blog combines text, images, and links to other blogs, web sites.

Content Management System (CMS) is a portal system used to easily publish, manage, and organize web site content. It is generally used as a news-based application. CMS allows "authors" (end-users) to put new articles onto your web site.

E-Commerce (Electronic Commerce) consists primarily of the buying, selling, marketing, and distributing of products or services over the Internet. It is basically an online store (often called a "web store"). Generally, payment is processed online as you finish your order ("checkout").

FAQ is an abbreviation for "Frequently Asked Questions." Web sites often contain a FAQ section with a list of common questions and their answers.

A Forum is an interactive discussion place that allows your web site visitors to leave messages, questions, and comments - for each other and for you. They can also reply to anyone else. A sense of virtual community often develops around forums that have regular users. Some businesses use a Forum to allow their customers to interact with other customers to answer questions or teach them how to use a product or service. Forums are also commonly referred to as discussion boards, discussion groups, message boards, and bulletin boards.

A Guestbook is a type of logging system that allows visitors to your web site to leave a quick message saying that they were there. The visitor can usually also leave their name, location, Email address, and a simple comment.

An Image Gallery lets you manage your photos on your web site. Image Galleries often include automatic thumbnail creation, image resizing, rotation, captioning, searching, and more.

Live Help is a real time support system for your web site visitors. Your web site visitor clicks a button on your web page to open a separate chat window. A representative (sales person, support person, etc.) of the web site can answer your visitors questions as your visitor is still on your web site.

A Mailing List is a collection of names and Email addresses used to send material to multiple recipients. Mailing Lists are often used to send out newsletters, online magazines, and advertising. With a Mailing List, a user can subscribe or unsubscribe them self. The term Mailing List can include the people subscribed to such a list, so the groups of subscribers are referred to as the "mailing list." Mailing Lists are sometimes referred to as "Distribution Lists."

A Poll (or Survey) is used to ask the visitors to your web site one or more questions. This is usually done in order to discover the majority opinion.

A Support Desk is a system that allows customers and/or visitors to submit a "support ticket" to your web site. A Support Desk is often used where a customer may have repeat business with the same company (such as a web site host).

Wiki Software typically allows web pages to be created and edited using a common web browser (such as Internet Explorer).
